The Mental Health, Social Service, and Addiction Counseling program prepares students to work with the emotional, social, and physical needs of clients in settings that include:

- · Mental health agencies.
- Social service / work.
- · Addictions treatment.
- · Corrections.
- · Residential facilities.
- · Schools.
- · Youth work.
- · Gerontology (working with the elderly).

Course topics include: counseling skills; group counseling; case management; addictions theory; trauma informed care; and professional practice.

Students who complete the AAS degree can become addictions counselors after passing the Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor exam. While this program is designed to help students enter the workforce, 89% of our students transfer to a four-year college to earn a bachelor's degree.

This program only accepts new students starting every fall term. Students may take some of the courses ahead of time, such as writing, math and electives. Meet with an adviser to make a plan.

Program Outcomes

At the completion of this program, students should be able to:

- Demonstrate the values and ethics that are intrinsic to the social service profession
- · Demonstrate professional interviewing skills
- · Demonstrate writing skills appropriate to clinical documentation
- · Identify resources for clients within agencies and within communities
- · Describe the role of culture and diversity in social service and counseling
- · Describe the role of neurochemistry in the addiction process

Please note: All core courses and cooperative education internship courses must be completed within 5 years of starting the program.

General education courses (such as math, writing, health, etc.) can be taken during any term, or before starting the program.
